Community Foundation Awards First Doris K. Parker Music Fund for Children Grant

AVON, Indiana (April 6, 2011) – The Hendricks County Community Foundation is pleased to announce that it has awarded its first Doris K. Parker Music Fund for Children grant to Andrea Eageny, the daughter of Mark and Margo Eageny of Stilesville, Indiana. The Doris K. Parker Music Fund for Children was established by the family of Doris Parker to provide grant money to aid children’s musical talents including voice, band, orchestra, piano, organ, and harp lessons or rental costs. Doris Parker played the piano and the clarinet; music was a joyful part in her family’s life.

“Our mother would be proud to see her name associated with a fund that supports children in the arts,” said Parker’s twins and founders of the Doris K. Parker Music Fund for Children, Willa Dean Yeager and Willis Gene Parker. “We were touched by Andrea’s story and hope she continues to express herself through her piano.”

Andrea is 11 years old and was chosen out of 16 applicants from the Clay Township area. She has taken piano lessons for a couple years and looks forward to continuing and perfecting her talents.
