As part of WFYI Public Broadcasting's on-going commitment toward promoting the health and well-being of Hoosier women, the station is recognizing the efforts of two local organizations that are making a big difference in the lives of Central Indiana women and their families. The Hendricks County Community Foundation and Girls Incorporated of Indianapolis have been selected as the co-recipients of WFYI's 2008 Speaking of Women's Health® community investment grants. Each organization will be awarded a $5,000 community investment grant in support of their women's health initiatives.

The Hendricks County Community Foundation provides donors with flexible, efficient and tax-effective ways to ensure their charitable giving achieves the greatest possible impact. WFYI's Community Investment Grant will aid the Foundation's "Habit of the Heart Fund," which helps to meet the emergency needs of Hendricks County youth and women.

Since 1969, Girls Incorporated of Indianapolis has been inspiring all girls to be strong, smart and bold. The organization partners with schools and community organizations to deliver educational programs to girls (ages 6-18). WFYI's Community Investment Grant will be used by Girls Incorporated of Indianapolis to help Central Indiana girls learn about Redefining Beauty, Medial Literacy®, and Living Safe and Strong®.

WFYI's 2008 Community Investment Grants were awarded during the 11th annual Speaking of Women's Health® Conference on Friday, September 12, at the Indiana Convention Center. Conference proceeds will benefit WFYI Public Broadcasting's mission to enrich the Central Indiana community through its programming and educational outreach services.
